Deok Hyun KANG

A man in a black suit and mask is painting on a canvas on the floor of a stage. He is wearing black gloves and holding a paintbrush. In the background, a drummer is playing a yellow drum set. The stage is lit with purple and blue lights. A large abstract painting is projected onto the wall behind the man.

CV

“My works are about a journey of escape or a constant resistance against the anxieties of apocalypse-like modern society. It rescued me from the bleak desert and restored my pure dreams, humanity, romance, and sensibility.

Compared to such complicated and complex structures in my world, I rather pursue simplicity and intuition. One could say it is juvenile or too cheerful considering the serious stories of each. This satire takes a strong stand against the contemporary world.”
